MINE MENTIONS

—J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall.

—Senator Allison speaks here this evening.

—Three of the ten prisoners who broke jail at Sidney, have been recaptured.

—The outgoing train this afternoon, eastward, is over the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

—Rev. R. F. Coyle, of Fort Dodge, will preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and evening.

—The new meat market of Shull & Muller, 799 South Main street, guarantee best of meats and prompt attention.

—A fine assortment of Boots and Shoes, sufficient to supply the demands of all, at George Blaxia's south Main street.

—Cheap Railroad tickets to all points, Bushnell, five doors north of postoffice, sells them. Entrance, Main or Pearl streets.

—Jacob Silver and G. Turner yesterday dropped $7.00 each into the police court fund, for having indulged too freely in anti-prohibition.

—The dance given by the Boys' band last night proved an enjoyable one, and was attended by many of Council Bluffs' most worthy people.

—Joseph Ross, the upper Broadway cooper, desires to purchase 50,000 hoop poles. He also wishes to employ two extra coopers. Write to or inquire at his cooper shop.

—Joseph Heller makes the finest Suits in the latest styles, at the lowest possible prices. His elegant tailoring establishment is at 310 Upper Broadway, Council Bluffs.

—This afternoon the Union Pacific, of Omaha, play the Council Bluffs nine, on the latter's ground here. It will be an exciting contest and will probably close the season.

—A man giving his name as Coyle, and claiming to have been a rebel of 1861 in an Omaha ball-hole was on this side of the river yesterday, hunting up clues to his lost wealth, but got drunk and was locked up.

—J. McCoy and H. McCoy, two stripplings, have been arrested by the officers here on a telegram from their father in Chicago, stating that they were runaways from home, and that he would come after them at once.

—The household of Mr. Joseph Green, an employee of the Union Pacific road, has been saddened gently by the death of their babe, aged eighteen months. Mr. Green has resided here for three months, having moved here from St. Joseph.

—To-morrow, as usual, on Sunday afternoon and evening, at Buck's (Yankee-man's) garden "Dot Lottie (German Band)" will hold forth in sacred concert. These concerts are well patronized and excellently managed. Go there and enjoy a few hours of genuine pleasure.

—In to-day's Bee appears the advertisement of Thall & Kracht, the Main street grocers. Their large stock is complete, their store is beautiful, and their prices as low as the lowest. Read their ad, and then call and examine their stock and prices. It will pay you to do so. They now do an exclusively grocery business.

—There was a merry wedding party at Kiel's hotel yesterday, the contracting parties being William Pion and Miss Caroline Ball, both of Minden. Justice Abbott performed the ceremony in the presence of quite a company of the friends of the parties. The German band furnished enjoyable music and a season of social festivity followed the ceremony.

—William Rapp, the 160 pound fish, whom Dave Mott was credited with catching in the meshes of the law, for selling in the waters of the lake, is still at large, the second cast net at Glenwood having been decided in his favor. Some of the Mills county taxpayers say that hereafter they want the fishers of men to set their legal seine in Pottawattomie county that the costs may be caught here.

—As will be seen by another column Justice Frayne rose to explain why he discharged the trio of young men brought before him charged with burglary. The Bee does not set itself up as a court to decide legal technicalities, but it feels itself justified on the simple grounds of common sense in expressing the feelings of a large number of citizens, who are indignant about the matter. There is no doubt but that a burglary was committed. There seems no doubt but that Hall sold one of the stolen coats to Mrs. Davis. When, after a burglary is committed, a fellow is found disposing of some of the stolen goods at a nominal sum, and the fellow does not care to show how he got the stolen goods, common sense would point to him as knowing to the burglary. When, in addition to this, a confederate squeals and tells all about it, it seems as if there was something of a case.

—Republican Township Convention.

The republicans of Kane township will meet in mass convention at the court house in Council Bluffs, on Tuesday evening, October 24, 1882, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination one candidate for township clerk, one candidate for township trustee, three candidates for justice of the peace, and three candidates for constable, to be voted for at the ensuing election.

By order of the republican township central committee.

A BEAUTIFUL FLAG.

Arrangements Being Made to Present it to the Mannerchor by the Ladies.

A goodly number of the German ladies, related to and friends of the members of the Mannerchor, have been quietly arranging to present that society with a flag. It was the privilege of THE BEE man yesterday to get a glimpse of this beautiful tribute, and a beauty it is indeed. Its cost reaches nearly $300, and is probably the handsomest flag in the west. It is of the finest silk, and a specimen of real art in needlework cannot well be surpassed. On one side, upon a purple silk background, appear in golden letters the words—"Gastmet von der Deutschen Frauen dem Mannerchor, Council Bluffs." "dedicated by the German ladies to the Mannerchor." These words are wrought in silk, and all by hand, and a very beautiful appearance to that side of the banner. The other side is even handsomer, it being as rich a bit of work as was ever seen in this city. Upon a background of fashions of rose silk appears an elaborate amount of embroidery, arranged in a very pleasing design. In the center appears a lyre, with golden strings, resting upon these pages appears the words and music of popular German songs, each line, each note, ever letter being wrought delicately yet distinctly in silk, making a wonderful showing of art and skill. The pages of the book stand forth natural to the life, and with the beautiful lyre resting upon it, makes a central design, which is as pleasing in appearance as it is wonderful in construction. Nor is this all. Above these is a graceful curve appear in golden letters and German words the sentiment, "Sing brightens life," while below the central design of the book and the lyre, appear two floral branches, tied as by a loop of bright ribbons, and gracefully curving upward and around each side of the central figures. In one corner appears the United States coat of arms, and in the other corner that of Germany, while each is further beautified by vines gracefully arranged. A close inspection shows every bit of the whole of this elaborate work wrought by hand, stitch by stitch. There also appears a beautiful little butterfly on the wing, which bears the same evidence of skillful handwork.

The flag is richly fringed with gold, and fastened by silk ribbons to a beautiful staff, which is surmounted by a gold lyre. An elegant sash for the standard bearer accompanies the flag. It is also of silk, hand embroidered, and fringed with gold.

It is the intention of the ladies to make a formal presentation of the flag on the 21st of November, the place chosen being Dabany's opera house. Besides this presentation the society have arranged for a concert at that time and place, and it is expected that besides the residents of the city, who will be present in large number of representatives from other cities will attend. Omaha will send at least a double quartet; Columbus, Neb., will send no less a number; Plattsmouth promises to be represented by a quartet at least; Dennison by a sextette, and others in proportionate numbers.

The Mannerchor is among the oldest societies in the city and numbers about 40 active members and about as many more passive ones. It is composed of our most responsible and most respected German citizens, there being among the members many of the leading business men. It is officiated by Mr. Chris Faul as president, Capt. L. Kirscht as treasurer, and Mr. Ehrenberger as musical director. The society well merits a beautiful banner, and its presentation and dedication will be an event of such interest as will draw a large number to witness it.

By the unthinking, Burdock has been considered a weed, and its luxuriant growth, unpleasant smell, etc., has rendered it, to those "not knowing its virtues," a nuisance, and yet the root has long been acknowledged by savants as most invaluable as a diuretic, aperient and blood-purifier. BURDOCK BLOOD PURIFIER embodies all its good qualities. Price $1.

ASHES TO ASHES.

The particulars of the big burning of Silver City.

The following further particulars are gleaned from The Glenwood Journal:

From W. F. McCall, deputy postmaster at Silver City, we learn that a fire broke out in that town last night, at a late hour beginning at the rear part of Dr. Moore's office and the postoffice building, which spread with surprising rapidity, and was not checked until the greater part of the business portion of the town was destroyed. The buildings reduced to ashes were the postoffice, Dr. Moore's office, the dry goods store of Messrs. Guthrie & Mandeville, boot and shoe shop and store of Henry Kay, Dickman Brothers saloon, Ed. Oney's confectionery, and Hoxie's barber shop. The postoffice was a total loss, and Mr. McCall came to town to procure temporary supplies from Postmaster Stephens until an order upon the government could be responded to. The postoffice building was the property of Mr. A. U. Crosby, who was also engaged in business, we believe, in the house. His loss will be fully fifty per cent of the value of the building and goods on hand. The ravages of the flames stopped at the store of Messrs. L. W. Russell & Co., which was badly scorched, but not burnt. Their stock however was removed and damaged in handling. Dr. Moore lost a part of his library and valuable medicines. A part of the other merchants' wares were saved in a damaged condition, of course.

There was some insurance but we could not learn the extent. The entire loss will amount to $25,000. It is believed that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as an accidental fire seems to have been impossible at the point where the flames broke out. This is a distressing calamity to Silver City from which it will require a long time to recover.

Sewerage.

R. T. Bryant and David Tostevin, of this city, have invented a device for sewer drain, culvert, tunnel and various other purposes that promises to take the place of the old styles. They claim for it the elements of strength and durability, combining rapidly in building and great economy. It is termed a polygonal arch and may be built in complete curve, segment, parabola or most any desired deflection from these figures. It consists in the laying together of plain cylinders, in double secure cups or blocks, the ends of the cylinders are sufficiently entrant to form a continuous tube. The blocks are beveled to suit any desired curve and concave on the opposite sides a full half circumference of the sized tube to be used, whereby the tubes are entirely hidden within the cups, leaving a solid shoulder of the cups at the point of bearing on each other, the whole being laid compactly in even beds of mortar or hydraulic cement, as the work demands. The tubes and cups are made about four feet in length, or as long as desired, and of any preferred diameter or thickness. The joints are all broken regularly in both tubes and cups where the ends of the tubes joined entirely within the cups, making the entire work water tight as fast as built. The strength of the mechanical combination is self-evident, and these gentlemen invite the criticism of practical men.

A Sad Accident.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock one of Rogers' busses ran over a small boy on Broadway, below the Revere house, injuring the little fellow so badly, that for a time he was unable to tell his name. As soon as it could be learned who he was, the boy, whose name proved to be Caleb Rodman, was taken to his home on Pierce street back of the Ogden house, and Dr. Lacy called in. An examination showed that the boy's left leg was broken near the thigh. His age being only eight years, is of course in favor of speed of recovery, but at the best the little fellow will necessarily be confined to the house, and in need of care for some time. The mother is a working woman who is not very well circumstanced for such an occurrence, and she seems to have had within the past few months more than her share of the trouble, the husband and father dying last spring, and the babe being buried only a week ago, and now the boy is crippled. The little fellow was down town trying to earn an extra dime for his mother, by putting in his spare time after school in distributing hand bills, when the accident befell him. It is said that the driver of the bus was careless in the matter, and that after running over the boy he did not stop to see what injuries were inflicted. Others say it was the boy's fault, and that is the bus came around the corner into Broadway, he dashed out thoughtlessly into the middle of the street, right under the horse's heels.

From a Legal standpoint.

To the Editor of THE BEE.

I willingly and cheerfully concede to you the right to criticize my action as a public official and I trust you will concede to me the privilege of saying something explanatory of the same, especially when I am supported and ratified by the whole body of the criminal law of Iowa in my recent decision in the case of the state of Iowa vs. Frank Hall et al., charged with burglary. Pardon me, sir, if I tell you that my decisions as a justice of the peace upon a question of law or fact are not formed or rendered in conformity with the opinions of the press, but, on the contrary, are formed and rendered according to the weight and current of respectable legal authority as handed down to me by the supreme court. Notwithstanding the fact that you think "law" sometimes an indiscriminate outrage on justice, and "equity" an imposition on common sense. I doubt not but the above opinion is prevalent among a great many people. But "I," as a public official, am bound to obey the legal authorities. Although as a private citizen, I may think the same inconsistent with right and justice. But the evidence in the case in question did not, I believe, warrant me in convicting the parties defendant, one of the defendants, "Ross" testified as an accomplice, and was, I believe, incorroborated, the evidence of Mr. Davies and Mr. Wheeler not conform to the requirements of section 4,559 of the code, which is as follows: "A conviction cannot be had upon the testimony of an accomplice, unless he be corroborated by such other evidence as shall tend to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration is not sufficient, if it merely show the commission of the offense or the circumstances thereof. The evidence of Messrs. Wheeler and Davies, to my mind, did not conform to the statutory requirements. But section 4,559 has been construed to operate and rebound to the benefit of defendants by the following decisions of the supreme court: State vs. Clemens, 38th Iowa; State vs. Graft, 42d Iowa; State vs. Miller, 44th Iowa; State vs. Thornton, 28th Iowa. That the above is the law "tis true

Concerning the Contest.

George William Curtis in an editorial on the New York convention writes some words which fit very snugly to the situation in this congressional district, as all must admit who are conversant with the manner in which Anderson managed to grab the republican nomination here by only one majority. He says:

"That nomination was procured by the combined power of fraud and patronage, and to support it at the polls bearing on each other, the whole being laid compactly in even beds of mortar or hydraulic cement, as the work demands. The tubes and cups are made about four feet in length, or as long as desired, and of any preferred diameter or thickness. The joints are all broken regularly in both tubes and cups where the ends of the tubes joined entirely within the cups, making the entire work water tight as fast as built. The strength of the mechanical combination is self-evident, and these gentlemen invite the criticism of practical men."

The republican state central committee are not in the habit of sending such men as Allison, James F. Watson and Governor Sherman into any time, but doubtful districts. Their presence here is a sure sign the Anderson forces are badly scared. They may eulogize republicanism, but they can not change the leopard's spots. —Union Avoca.

WILL JOHN ANSWER?

There are many in this district who are disgusted with the attempts made by John Chapman to draw away attention from the damaging facts in Anderson's record, by trying to raise a howl about Pusey's record as a banker and on the school question. If John would only rise and make a few explanations about Anderson, it would interest them more, and serve his purpose better.

Would it not be well to explain that $1,000 bond which Anderson admits having given three weeks before the convention, and if not given for the purposes of corruption, for what was it given?

Would it not be well for John to explain why it was that so gallant a soldier and patriot, as Anderson is represented to be, should draw his monthly pay twice?

Will Mr. Myers, the editor of the Nonpareil, explain why, but a short time ago, he pronounced as true all the charges of immorality brought against Anderson, and now declares him so pure and incorruptible?

Will the Nonpareil explain how it is that Anderson is "legitimate candidate of the republican party," seeing that the convention was called hurriedly, and despite the protest of nearly a majority of the committee, the delegations packed, and the nomination secured by only one majority, while such means as the $1,000 bond were used to secure over that sort of an abortive nomination?

Will the Nonpareil explain how a snap judgment, secured by wholly un-republican means, can be transformed into an alleged "boom," which is the spontaneous outbursting of an enthusiastic and unanimous desire of the republican party to have Anderson nominated?

While at these explanations will John explain wherein as railway commissioner, Anderson ever showed any inclination to stand up for the people, as against the unjust acts of railways, or ever opposed pools?

Will not the Nonpareil publish the official report in which Major Anderson secured only one majority, while such means as the $1,000 bond were used to secure over that sort of an abortive nomination?

The Nonpareil says in a general sort of a way that the papers are lying about Anderson. Will not the able editor of that paper please specify one of these, and show it to be false?

If Adam had had a game of "Fifteen" placed in his hand at an early period of his existence, the whole course of history might have been materially altered for the better, and if billioues, indigestion, sick headache or dyspepsia were unknown, SPRING BLOSSOMS would not be needed.
